

We hear your voice
No matter how they try to silence you
It's loud and clear, we know what you're going through
You speak for all of us
And the unborn children who cannot know the sacrifice you've made
So their hopes and dreams have a chance to grow

We are the woman of the world every color every race
We are the woman of the world every shape and size and face

We know our power so let's rejoice
Raise our vision and share our voice
Stand for freedom and for choice
Yes, we are the women of the world